At Dedication

Barnett Cites Dixie Growth

The South is running fast because it "just didn't get started in time," Gov. Ross Barnett told some several hundred citizens at the dedication of the new half million dollar Hancock General Hospital Saturday as he saluted the many signs of progress in Dixie.

The recent accomplishments in this county, he declared, are typical of the new South. The governor echoed the words of Sam E. Favre Jr., master of ceremonies for the occasion and attorney for the hospital board, as he cited what can be achieved by putting to work the idle acres on which the new building now stands.

"The road may be rough or long but if you're going to be strong, it's because it's up to you," he continued, applauding the spirit of Bay St. Louis and Hancock County. "Nothing will impede the progress of the Mississippi Gulf Coast," the governor asserted, citing the 26-mile man-made beach in Harrison County, the future of the seafood industry with the newly created Marine Conservation Commission and the prospects for state ownership of the ports.

He expressed appreciation that the legislature had given the state "a seafood bill taking it completely out of politics," predicting that the coast should soon become the oyster and seafood capital of the world.

"There is greater opportunity today in Mississippi than you'll find any place in the world," the governor continued, citing its natural resources, labor supply and climate.

Barnett, who arrived at midday late for the ceremonies after flying to Gulfport from a noon shooting engagement in central Mississippi, was introduced by Dan M. Russell Jr., attorney for the city of Bay St. Louis and town of Waveland and a civilian colonel on his staff.

Russell called the occasion another milestone in the progress of Hancock County, noting that where an old pecan orchard stood a few months ago there was now the new hospital, a new health center adjacent and a new school nearing completion just across the street. He termed Barnett the hardest working governor in the history of Mississippi, being busy about 24 hours a day since he took office Jan. 19 and going a mile beyond his duty to do what he thinks is best for the state.

The ribbon officially opening the new 32-bed facility was cut by Dr. A. P. Smith, chief of the medical staff who has practiced in Hancock County for 50 years. Favre remarked that the physician had delivered practically every infant born in the county and the ovation accorded him by the audience attested to his wide popularity.

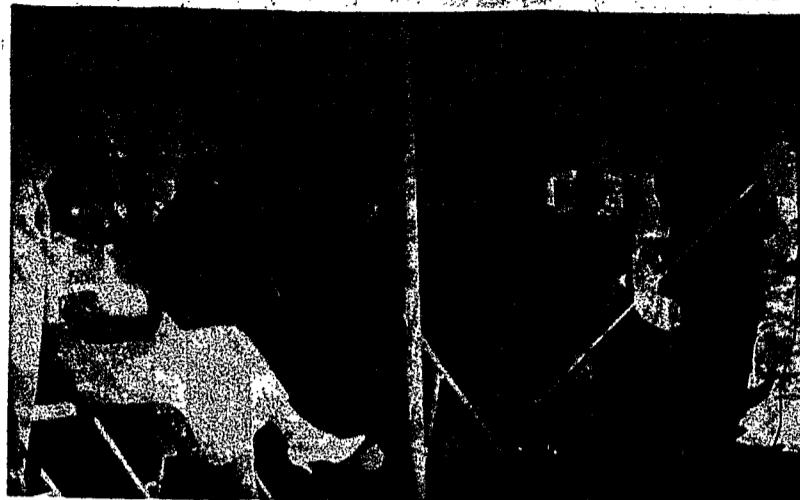

The Rev. E. A. Lindsey, pastor of First Presbyterian Church, delivered the invocation, calling the hospital a house of God and a gate to Heaven after which the American Legion and Boy Scout Troop 209 raised the Stars and Stripes on the flagpole donated by the Legion to the hospital in memory of the veterans of Hancock County. The national anthem was played during the flag raising.

The flag was donated by Mrs. H. M. Keefe in memory of her husband who for many years displayed deep interest in the hospital. Favre welcomed the audience to the ceremony in behalf of

Full Guidance, Band Proposed for Schools

A full-time guidance program for children in the Hancock County school district and a band at North Central were among several projects proposed to the county board of education at a busy meeting Monday.

Advertising for bids on four private bus routes was held for action next Monday when Trustee Lugin Nacewic withdrew his second of a motion by Mrs. C. C. McDonald because he had understood the routes would be the same as presently. The motion provided for bids on the routes as recommended by Superintendent K. G. McCarty and his plan is to combine some of them. Mrs. McDonald subsequently withdrew her motion.

Nacewic said he would like to go along with McCarty's idea of using smaller buses for feeder routes but was doubtful it would work.

The suggestion of a full-scale guidance program was advanced by Mrs. Gerald Kennedy, guidance counsellor at North Central, who estimated it would cost about $150 net to the county with the reimbursement under the National Defense Education Act.

Bay Resident Contests Will

A 12-man jury was empaneled Tuesday by Chancellor William G. Hewes in Harrison County Court in the contested will suit of the late James Thomas Randolph of Gulfport. Petitioners are Thelma Christine Collier, 415 Carroll Ave., Bay St. Louis, E. J. Adam Jr., Pass Christian attorney and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Eli Collins, Gulfport.

Randolph, a carpenter, died Dec. 10, 1959. His brother Russell Sage Randolph was named temporary administrator in a decree handed down last Dec. 14. However, the four petitioners later petitioned the court to probate an instrument they claim is Randolph's last will which named Adam as executor.

The will, witnessed by Gulfport attorney English Lindsey and J. C. Ross requested to Thelma Collier the remainder of the estate including clothing, tools, two shotguns, two rifles, all bank and savings deposits and U. S. savings or war bonds.

At present, she works solely with the seventh to 12th grade group in addition to teaching three classes in general business. The schedule does not enable her to work with younger children to establish a more solid foundation for later studies.

She outlined the testing program that might be used in all 12 grades, materials for which would cost $158 plus transportation. Federal refund would be about $50. Earlier, Mrs. Kennedy reported on accomplishments at North Central this spring with the remedial reading program.

Later in the week, Superintendent McCarty signed orders for the materials.

Stanley Arnold, Hindsboro music dealer and former president of the state band directors association, reported on a band program survey he had made on 346 pupils in the fourth through 11th grades at North Central. They were about 10 per cent above average in musical talent, he said, and 226 had expressed an interest in band. Based on a second physical ability test and check of parent backing, it would appear some 50 to 75 would enter the program, he said.

Hospital Moves into New Plant

Moving was completed smoothly early Monday to the new Hancock General Hospital on Dunbar Avenue, according to Administrator Thomas O. Logue, and the first patient to enter the new facility, Prince J. Ladner, was admitted about 9 a.m. that day. The staff is still awaiting the first delivery in the new building.

Throngs of county residents and visitors in the community inspected the facilities, termed the most modern in Mississippi for the size, at open houses after the dedication Saturday and again Sunday.

The number of visitors Sunday caught the staff off-guard, and the women's auxiliary was called in to conduct tours. Logue explained that much of the equipment from the old quarters of Carroll Avenue were being moved in that day and the staff was not sure to greet the large crowd.

The three adult patients from the old hospital and four babies were moved over by car and ambulance Monday about 7:15 a.m.

Because patients are now in the rooms, Logue is asking the public to confine future inspection of the facilities to visiting hours so as not to interrupt the treatment schedule. These hours at 10:30 to 11:30 a.m.; 2:30 to 4:30 and 6:30 to 8:30 p.m. He also asked that telephone calls to the patients be curtailed to only those necessary as there is a phone in each patient room now.

Logue expressed particular pleasure that when Charles O'Neill of the Mississippi Commission on Hospital Care and Inspectors from the U. S. Public Health Service checked the building last Friday they came up with one of the smallest list of deficiencies he has ever heard of. Those corrections are now being made. They related to the temperature being too cool or too

Mrs. Pepperdene Takes ARC Post

Mrs. K. W. Pepperdene has taken over the position of executive secretary of the Hancock County Chapter, American Red Cross, recently vacated by Mrs. O. W. Delph.

Mrs. Pepperdene may be reached at HO 7-4229.

Including uniforms and larger instruments which the pupils normally do not buy, a band would cost the system between $8 and $14,000 over a three or four-year span. Scarcity of band directors and the board's limited finances loomed as obstacles.

The Rev. Adrian Mercier, assistant pastor at Our Lady of the Gulf Church, inquired about the Gulfport area.

Another number of changes in mail delivery for Bay St. Louis will go into effect Saturday, June 11.

Postmaster Andy J. Becker announced this week, following approval by the Memphis regional office and two postal inspectors who have surveyed the local problems.

The revisions have been necessitated because of overrunning of existing routes due to the increase in the number of postal points, he explained. This means that for the first time in the history of the Bay St. Louis Post office, the Cedar Point section will have special delivery service, Becker noted. It also increases the possibility that delivery will be extended to include curb service for the new streets in this area, residents of which now have to go to the corner to mail.

The advantage is that persons in the area will have to purchase money orders and stamps at the post office instead of from the carrier as in the past. This means that for the first time in the history of the Bay St. Louis Post office, the Cedar Point section will have special delivery service, Becker noted. It also increases the possibility that delivery will be extended to include curb service for the new streets in this area, residents of which now have to go to the corner to mail.

The revisions will result in the saving of time. The mail is delivered all over Bay St. Louis.

The public is asked to bear with the service until the new arrival time is completely worked out.

'Accidental' Jury Finds Carver Death Sheriff's Report

In a four-page typewritten statement prepared by Capt. A. R. Osborn, released by Sheriff Gerald Price Thursday afternoon, Frank Joseph (Boobie) Carver was said to have been drinking the afternoon before his death "accidentally" and that "there were evidently two cars involved in this case" that had been drinking and in the company of his former lady, Mrs. Melva Mums, who lives on Route 604 approximately one mile north of where the body was found.

Struck by the front of the car. The marking in the highway showed he was struck by a car, the report states, "dragged under the car some 60 feet where the body was found released and lying in the road, evidently when Courtney turned back in the right lane. At the point where the body was found there was much blood and the body was badly mangled and parts of the anatomy was found in other lane where the body was found."

Hover stated that "between 10:15 and 10:30 p.m. he and his wife were driving north on Route 604 toward Picayune when he met Carver walking south on the outside way of the opposite lane. (Hover pointed out the spot where he met the boy and according to the speedometer on deputy sheriff's car it was .2 of a mile from where the body was found.)

Mrs. Mums told officers that Carver came to her home and said he was hungry; she told him she had nothing prepared and they walked to Stephens Bar. Stephens told investigators that Carver, on his previous trip home, had let him hold a small pistol for $5 and upon his arrival with Mrs. Mums retrieved it. He further said that Carver loaded his pistol with three bullets, two in the magazine and one in the chamber; that the pair drank some whiskey before leaving for Boykin's Restaurant and Bar a short distance away.

The report continued that after returning to Stephens Bar, the pair returned to Mrs. Mums home and stayed until approximately 9:50 p.m., when Carver suddenly decided to walk to the White House at Pearlington, a distance of six to eight miles. He left carrying his pistol and some whiskey, she said. He was next seen walking south on 604 by W. R. Hover of Leighton. Next information was given by Reggie Boisier who first found the body and notified Beat 1 Constable H. G. Dean. Shortly afterwards Albert J. Courtney called the sheriff's office saying he had run over the body, attempting to straddle it; that the body was lying prone, more on his stomach with head slightly toward the northwest but couldn't tell if he was alive. Dean's examination showed particles of clothing and flesh underneath the car but no sign of the body having been

3 Matters For Voters On Tuesday

Polling places throughout the county will follow their usual hours in Tuesday's Congressional Democratic primary since the new law on hours will not go into effect until after the general election in November, according to the attorney-general's office.

In Bay St. Louis, polls will be open from 7 a.m. until 6 p.m. because its voter registration exceeds 1,000. In the rest of the county, voting hours will be from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m.

Joseph V. Colson, chairman of the county Democratic executive committee, advised voters to take their poll tax receipts with them although they may not be called for at this time.

Only three questions will face the voters at this time: nomination for the U. S. Senate seat for which James Eastland is seeking reelection, district post on the Supreme Court and the referendum on the proposed right to work bill.

Earlier it had been indicated Bay St. Louis voters would express their views on the proposed half-cent hike in the sales tax for coastal communities but City Commission Council has decided to hold the matter for further study.

Two boys and two girls from each Mississippi county are eligible to attend.

Bay Seaman Aboard Saratoga in Mishap

"Wasn't anything to it" Seaman Matthew J. Gleber Jr., told his mother, Mrs. Matthew J. Gleber sr., 232 Boardman Avenue, over the phone Monday night speaking of the collision of the USS Saratoga, one of the world's largest aircraft carriers, and the West German ore ship Bernd Lecknig, off the Virginia coast last Wednesday.

Gleber, who is scheduled to be discharged tomorrow after two years of service, was aboard the Saratoga at the time of the sideswiping crash which occurred in clear weather 60 miles southeast of Cape Henry one minute after midnight. Naval spokesman at Norfolk said there was no immediate explanation of the cause of the collision.

Capt. Alan F. Fleming, the Saratoga's skipper, told newsmen on arrival in port "if we had hit just a few seconds earlier our bow would have sliced right through the middle of the ore ship."

The Saratoga was in a hard right turn when the ships collided and struck before the crash. The public is asked to bear with the service until the new arrival time is completely worked out.

Mr. and Mrs. John A. Woods, proprietors of the Woods Inn, 1000 Main Street, and two daughters, Mrs. Mary and Mrs. Helen, were at the Woods Inn when the collision occurred.

Slate Mail Changes

is hoped that this will relieve the situation as soon as changes over difficulties are ironed out, particularly with the heavy summer traffic.

Plans call for conversion of the north end of the Bay, known as the Cedar Point station, from rural delivery service to limited city delivery service. Mail in this section will be delivered by mounted carrier at the curb which means there will be no relocation of boxes in Cedar Point. This means that for the first

Little Theater Opens Operation Attic

The Little Theater is launching operation attic, a campaign to collect costumes for a forthcoming presentation.

Mrs. Lloyd Griffin, director of the theater's next scheduled effort, The Late George Apley, finds herself confronted with quite a problem in period costuming her cast of 17 players. The three-act drama in progress in Boston shortly after the opening of the 20th century, 1912,叫求ing for this period approximates the World War I era. Men's clothing including vests, jackets, stiff collars, suits, trousers, coats and one pair of knicker and women's shirts, blouses, coats, suits, dresses, wraps, hats and many accessories are all needed.

Persons, size, color and condition are of little importance. A thorough search of attics, lockers, closets, trunks and valises is urged. If you find any of the items you are solicited to lend them to the Little Theater. Mrs. Griffin may be reached at HO 7-5376, and N. L. Carter at HO 7-5333, and the garments will be picked up.

Trio from Bay Enlist in Navy

Three Bay St. Louis men were enlisted in the U. S. Navy this week, and have been transferred to San Diego, Calif., to begin their recruit training.

The Late George Apley, adapted for the stage by John P. Marquand and George S. Kaufman, is scheduled for presentation on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, June 23-25.

NOTICE

Effective Saturday June 4th, due to the increase of the volume of business on Saturdays we are compelled to raise hair cut prices to $1.25 and flat tops to $1.25. This price increase is for Saturdays ONLY. Monday thru Friday prices will be haircuts $1.00, flat tops $1.25. In the event that we will be able to get some help on Saturdays, we will reduce the Saturday prices.

Give Them A Try

One sign frequently associated with population growth are those nuisances, parking meters. Bay St. Louis, along with many smaller towns, now has them on a trial basis.

With all the exasperation these devices sometimes cause, they have usually been found to be a help to the merchants in the areas where placed and to the shopper. They help the merchant by providing parking space for his prospective customers and help the shopper by saving him or her some time. (While not pertinent it is interesting that surveys usually find over 60 per cent of the downtown parking spaces are occupied by a merchant or his employee.)

The Echo has no accurate crystal ball, so the editor does not know what good or harm the new parking meters will accomplish. In view of their success elsewhere, they are probably worth a try.

Coming or Going

A sufficient number of people have asked us for the bus and train schedules for Bay St. Louis that, even though it has a decided advertising aspect, we are printing herewith the respective departure times for trains and buses from Bay St. Louis.

To Gulfport:

By Bus-	12:31 a.m.	4:13 a.m.	6:40 a.m.	9:03 a.m.
	1:25 p.m.	3:48 p.m.	5:19 p.m.	6:49 p.m.
By train-	7:04 p.m.	9:25 p.m.
	10:29 a.m.		7:12 p.m.	10:24 p.m.

To New Orleans:

By Bus-	3:27 a.m.	5:03 a.m.	5:54 a.m.	6:07 a.m.
	8:26 a.m.	10:43 a.m.	2:58 p.m.	5:25 p.m.
By Train-	7:05 p.m.	8:45 p.m.
	6:40 a.m.	7:03 a.m.	5:41 p.m.	2:15 p.m.

The current issue of The New Yorker magazine expresses in many and glowing terms how IMPRESSED they were at our president's wife's comment on the fact that our president's invitation was withdrawn. Mrs. Eisenhower's comment, according to the magazine, was "Oh". Somehow we aren't impressed. We think of Mrs. Eisenhower as intelligent; we think the New Yorker stupid.

PLANTING SILAGE

June is an ideal month to plant sorghum for silage and grain sorghum for silage, or grain. Seedbeds should be well prepared because the seedbeds help get the kind of stand needed.

should be made on dairy farms on beef cattle farms where summer pastures will be short. Millet is better for this planting than Sudan. If your farmer likes Sudan better than millet, there is no use arguing. Millet will grow better during the hot summer and rust less than Sudan.

In South Mississippi, I would take Millet altogether. Some farmers are asking about planting Sudan or Millet for hay. Recommended varieties of millet for South Mississippi are Gahi Pearl, Starr and Common Pearl.

FARMCAST

PLAN TO STORE OATS THIS YEAR: You'll be throwing money away to sell at harvest time. The crop will be short; the outlook for higher prices are good. If you're going to buy oats, get 'em off the combine.

BIG PRICES SHOULD BRING

smiles to poultrymen as the market starts to move up in June. Hatchings are off more than a third from last year. It spells good prices this fall and winter. If you've taken our advice, you already have a full flock of replacements coming along.

DON'T SELL TIMBER NOW - Prices are too low. The slump in the building trade has hit Southern timber markets. Wait until next year to sell; conditions might be better.

HOG PRICES WILL CONTINUE TO CLIMB, so don't be in a hurry to sell. The peak won't come for another 60 days. Discounts won't be as steep as usual for hogs. Don't be scared by downturns in prices; they'll be temporary.

SELL FED CATTLE AS SOON AS THEY'RE READY

Prices will drift down for another month to 45 days. Watch the bottom end of the string and sell any that aren't gaining well or won't grade "average good" when finished.

JUNE GARDENING

Here are some June jobs for the busy gardener: Mulch and water the garden as plants show a need. Cultivate shallow now so you won't disturb the plant roots.

Set your tomato plants for a fall crop. Keep rows not producing clean and ready for fall planting. Provide a little shade for at least one row of tomatoes.

Do a little side dressing along to help keep plants producing. KEEP THE BUGS UNDER CONTROL.

KC Bankston Meet in Longest Game of Season

Fighting desperately to climb out of the cellar, Bankston had KC hemmed in all night through nine hectic innings, the longest game of the season, KC winning 11-8.

It was KC's first win of the season moving them into eighth position, four games behind leading Trappers.

KC got off to a six-run lead in the top of the first inning but Bankston got two in their half and tied it up in the bottom of the seventh at 6-6. Neither team could score in the eighth but KC took advantage of pitcher John Perkins's wildness who apparently tired and gave up two hits and four walks, scoring five runs. Bankston rallied and scored two on a homer by Bobby Clapp with one on but the game ended with a man stranded on third. It was Clapp's second homer of the night. Fans were treated to some spectacular catches by leftfielder J. V. Peterson of Clermont Harbor.

In the opener Carter beat Kilm 17-5 to cause a three-way tie for fifth place. Carter, Kilm and Regal are three games behind.

Six women representing various clubs and organizations in Bay St. Louis were among some 75 in attendance at a coffee party May 24 at the Edgewater Gulf Hotel.

Attending from this area were Mrs. Bert Ladner and Mrs. A. Dorn, representing the Lakeshore Garden Club; Mrs. John Bordages and Mrs. J. P. Rousseau, Blue Jeans Garden Club; Mrs. J. W. Wilberson, Town and Country Club; Mrs. S. K. Kepner-Waveland Home Club.

WCS Sends Clothes To Gamma Mission

The Women's Society for Christian Service of Main Street Methodist Church, Bay St. Louis, 25 members, will send 150 lbs. of clothing to Wallace Charles, president, concerning the business section.

Mrs. C. C. McDonald reported that a box of clothing had been sent to the Gamma Mission as a result of the study on Africa. She also announced the annual School of Missions at Seashore Assembly will be Aug. 1 through 5.

A sub-district meeting at Wiggins on June 9 was called to the attention of the group. Mrs. J. R. Corbin, treasurer, presented the budget which was adopted for the new year.

A number of ladies, led by Mrs. J. W. Clark, took part in the beautiful pledge service which followed in the sanctuary.

In brief remarks, Flynn observed that a hospital was not always held in the high esteem it is today, recalling conditions at the famed Hotel Dieu in Paris which from the 16th century until the start of the 19th was rated as the world's best. "This institution," he said, "will prove to be the most important building in Bay St. Louis and the county as a whole."

Favre told of the ground breaking in May, 1959, one year before completion, and high praise at the inspection last Friday by the Mississippi Commission on Hospital Care and representatives of the U. S. Public Health Service in Atlanta.

The building cost about $71,000. The extensive tract of land which cost $18,000 is also used for the county home and the sparse water system to meet the hospital needs cost $44,000, making the total project cost about $50,000.

The Rt. Rev. Msgr. Martin Doloney, pastor of Our Lady of the Gulf Catholic Church, gave the benediction, blessing the structure, the physicians who practice there and those who enter for care.

Members of the women's auxiliary in their pink smocks were on hand in a body for the occasion and assisted in receiving visitors at the open house afterwards.

McNeill Baptists Will Dedicate New Church

The new 350-seat sanctuary of First Baptist Church at McNeill will be dedicated at services Sunday with the Rev. S. P. Powell, pastor, in charge.

Building of the structure which includes 16 Sunday School room, a recreation room and kitchen complete with stove and refrigerator, started 18 months ago and cost $50,000.

Brother Powell, who retired several years ago from the ministry, accepted the call of the 200-member congregation two years ago and has assisted with the building program. He will speak at the 11 a.m. service and the Rev. Clyde Gordon will deliver the message at the worship at 2 p.m.

Special evangelistic services are planned at the McNeill church the week of June 6-12 being extended an open invitation.

a serious need exists in the English field with at least 12 sections scheduled for next year as well as in the sixth grade which will have some 86 pupils. Mrs. George O'Farrell was reelected janitor at Gulfview.

Board attorney Walter J. Phillips reported that only one reply had come from letters to demolishing firms inquiring what price they would offer for the vacated Sellers School plant. The reply said the firm would take the job for a fee.

With a balance of $8,000 in the general fund, Mrs. McDonald urged the board to think of paying off the $4,000 transportation now due since last September since another one will become due shortly, and $10,000 is owed to the board of supervisors.

Loan of chairs from the North Central gym to Truman Schultz for the dedication program at the National Guard armory June 18 was approved and Mrs. McDonald asked that the chairs be repainted and painted a uniform color afterwards.

(that's 20° hotter than the temperature at which BTU's are rated)

There's a good reason why Fedders engineers for conditions that are 20-degrees hotter than BTU rating standards: heat radiated from sun-baked walls on any sunny summer day travels up the side of your house, puts a fierce brutal Sun Load on your air conditioner that can climb to 115 degrees even though the Weatherman reports temperatures in the nineties. (He measures temperature in the shade.) In recent tests of air conditioners with similar BTU ratings, most air conditioners turned off at 115 degree outdoor conditions to avoid permanent damage from overheating. The Fedders on test, however, pulled indoor temperatures down. Obviously it takes more than BTU's alone to overcome Sun Load.
